SLAIN WOMAN IDENTIFIED BY BROTHER AND COUSINS; HER HUSBAND DETAINED

Victim of Inwood Murder They Say Was Bride of Gregorio Giordano.

CORNER UNCONVINCED

He Will Have the Witnesses View the Body Again on Monday.

The woman found murdered late on Sunday in Cold Spring Grove, near Spuyten Duyvil, was positively identified today by Salvatore E. Bontorno, of No. 51 Elizabeth street, who said the woman was his sister, Salvadora, who four months ago became the bride of Gregorio Giordano. In addition to Bontorno, Giovanni, Salvatore and Sebastiano Bontorno, cousins of the woman, and Santa Bontorno, a sister-in-law, and Giuseppe Montalto, a friend, all identified the body as that of Salvadora.

Nevertheless, Coroner Winterbottom said that he was not satisfied with the identification and would take the party back to the morgue on Monday to assure himself that they were correct. The coroner is influenced by the fact that Gregorio himself viewed the body last night, said it was his wife, then fainted away, and when he recovered decided that perhaps, after all, it wasn't Salvadora.

The Giordanos lived at No. 127 West street and the police are looking for Gregorio now. Salvadora Bontorno said that he last saw his sister at 6 o'clock Sunday night when she called at his home and stayed about ten minutes, saying, as she left, that she was going on a walk with her husband, who was waiting for her outside. The next night Gregorio called to ask if he had seen anything of Salvadora, whom he said, he had not seen all day and about whom he was worried. The police are anxious to question Gregorio, as they say he said at the morgue that his wife had left the house early Monday morning and had been seen in bed at the time the body was found Sunday night.

MAKING ANALYSES OF BLOOD STAINS.

With the identification by the woman's other relatives the police sought her husband. They learned that he worked on the subway excavation in Brooklyn and a dozen detectives were sent out to find him. Meantime an Evening World reporter found him at his home, where he was not thought to look. He was taken to the Mulberry street station by Detective Murphy, who went to the house when he learned of Giordano's presence there.

Later the man will be taken before the coroner. He seemed to be in a daze and had nothing to say. Neighbors said that he and his wife quarrelled frequently. The police are anxious to know why he told them his wife was safe in bed all Sunday night when her body was found no later than 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Prof. John H. Larkin of the College of Physicians and Surgeons is making analyses today of the blood-stained garments of Mariano Ferrone, the man who was picked up in the Hudson River early yesterday morning and is now a prisoner in Washington Heights Hospital, and of clippings of hair cut from his head, his mustache and beard. Prof. Larkin is making other analyses of the blood on the garments of the "wild man" prisoner.

The police are awaiting the conclusion of the professor to see if they will warrant a charge of murder against the murdered girl. Salvatore Bontorno, who says he is a brother of the murdered girl, and several cousins, went to the morgue and said the girl was

EBERTS FIELD, BROOKLYN, AUG. 16.—When the teams took the field for their second game there were 10,000 fans present to see the battle. Manager Huggins was anxious to make it two straight and sent in his right-hand man, Griner, to do the twirling, with Wingo on the receiving end, while Bill Dahlen had Cliff Curtis and Miller in the points for the Dodgers.

FIRST INNING.—Huggins singled over Fisher's head. Evans sent a long liner over Stengel's head, which was good for three bases, scoring Huggins. Magee sent a short fly to Wheat. Evans being held on third. Mowrey bunted to Curtis and Evans was doubled up. Curtis to Smith. One Run.

Moran was an easy out for Griner and Koney. Huggins made a neat pickup and threw to Koney to get Cutshaw at first. Stengel was an easy victim of Griner's curves. No Runs.

SECOND INNING.—Koney lined off to Stengel. Whitted struck out. Fisher to Daubert. Fisher dropping the third strike. Cutshaw grounded up the first base line and was out. Daubert unassisted. No Runs.

SEARCHING SWAMP FOR TWO BANDITS WHO SHOT AT AUTO

Bridges Leading From Hackensack Meadows Guarded by Poses.

BULLET GRAZES CAR.

Believe Men Must Surrender or Die in Quagmire—Mystery as to Auto Owner.

Railroad detectives and policemen from three New Jersey cities were aroused to a high pitch of excitement last night by reports of an auto holdup in the Hackensack meadows near Newark, in which it was said that pistol shots were fired from ambush at an automobile containing two men and a woman by miscreants who got away before they could be identified.

The alarm was sounded by Charles Collins, a crossing tender of the Lackawanna Railroad, who saw two men spring out from behind a shanty and point revolvers at the automobile, firing two shots when the car refused to stop. Two detectives of the Pennsylvania Railroad yard nearby saw the flashes from the revolvers and hurried to the crossing.

The bandits fled up the road and into the meadows and were lost in the darkness. When the automobile stopped in Jersey City the driver reported the holdup and showed where a bullet had grazed the fender.

The occupants of the car attacked were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pierce of No. 60 Mount Prospect avenue, Newark, and W. Earle Clayton. Pierce and Clayton are connected with I. P. Frank, an electric designer, Tenth avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

Telephone warnings were sent out by the crossing tender and detectives, ordering a watch kept on the only two bridges by which the bandits could reach Newark or Jersey City. The guard on these bridges all last night prevented escape out of the meadows, which is being paroled out and beaten through to-day.

The few paths by which one can penetrate the marshes are known and closed from the ends, while the detectives and police are working to the center. They have a description of the men furnished by Collins, who was near enough to see the bandits at the time of the attempted holdup. The police are also trying to find the true name of the chauffeur.

ENVOY HALE TARGET FOR MEXICAN ATTACK

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16.—Victims attacks on Dr. William Bayard Hale, who does not hide the fact that he is here for the purpose of advising President Wilson on affairs in Mexico, are contained today in nearly all the Mexican newspapers. The intrasentient accuses him of being an interventionist "whose greatest desire is to see the Stars and Stripes waving over Mexico." Other comments are of a similar tenor. Dr. Hale has received a dozen anonymous warnings, either telephoned or written, that he is in danger of arrest or expulsion. He is of the opinion that the campaign against him is directed from the United States.

ROSEVILLE TRUST TREASURER TRACED THROUGH WOMAN

Smith Located by Detectives, Who Await Legal Order for His Arrest.

DEPOSITORS ALSO HUNT

First Clue to Whereabouts Given by Friend Who Says Smith Has No Funds.

Detectives employed by the National Surety Company today located Raymond E. Smith, missing cashier, treasurer and secretary of the Roseville Trust Company of Newark, though they declined to reveal his whereabouts other than to say that he "is very near New York" and can be apprehended at any time. No warrant has been asked for Smith's arrest, nor has any charge of criminality been made against him in connection with the shortage of $300,000 which has been found in the trust company. Some doubt was expressed to-day that a warrant would be asked, but loans and "weak paper" being held responsible for the shortage.

Smith, it was learned to-day, did not have any money when he disappeared from the office of the company. Instead of going away with a large sum in securities and cash, as was first reported, the missing cashier had to borrow money with which to make the trip. The man who loaned him the money, a personal friend, told the private detectives to-day that Smith was "that broke" when he left.

WOMAN BETRAYS WHEREABOUTS OF FUGITIVE.

It was through a woman with whom Smith has been very friendly for a long time that the seven detectives employed by the National Surety Company were able to-day to pick up the trace of the missing cashier. This woman, it is understood, has been in Smith's confidence, and was able to tell the detectives exactly where he is. The officers refused to reveal his hiding place, because no warrant had been issued, but they declared they could arrest him in an hour if a warrant were issued.

Late this afternoon, sheriffs, acting under a writ of attachment, seized Smith's three-room quarters in the Grand Central Hotel, Central avenue and South street, Newark, an apartment known only to Smith's select inner circle of friends.

In the rooms they found an expensive player piano and a poker table having the regulation slots for chips and a box for the "kitty." A pair of long gloves were the only signs of femininity about the place, though there were signs that several photographs had been hastily torn from the walls.

In the cellar the sheriffs found a splendid assortment of champagne and fine Italian wine, which Smith kept to regale his friends.

Mr. Vredenburg, Special Assistant Deputy Commissioner of Banking and Insurance, who has been placed in charge of the affairs of the trust company, declared that it would be impossible for him to issue a statement to-day of the condition of the institution. He added that the examiners would be kept at work, night and day, and that a "creditor's statement," detailing the exact condition of affairs, would be ready by Monday or Tuesday. This delay, he declared, was due to the fact that incoming and outgoing checks had to be examined, and that there was a large quantity of paper in the bank which had to be gone through.

NEW ATTACK ON GLYNN IS MADE BY SULZER IN WAR FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Impeached Executive in Letter To-day Reproaches His Rival for Refusing to Submit Their Case to the Courts.

BOTH SIDES TO REST UNTIL NEXT MONDAY

Hint That Some Taxpayer May Take Steps Next Week for the Arrest of Sulzer.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Both sides in the rival governments of the State rested to-day. Gov. Sulzer addressed a letter to Acting Gov. Glynn replying to the one of his rival refusing to take the matter into court.

The Acting-Governor signed payroll checks for the Adjutant-General's office to-day and they were honored by the Acting-Comptroller. Gov. Sulzer also signed some State papers but wouldn't say what they were. Acting-Gov. Glynn authorized the announcement that he contemplates no action looking to forcible removal of Gov. Sulzer from the Executive Chamber, although he spoke of "force" in his letter last night. Some of the hot heads have urged him to seize possession of the Executive Office.

He left the Capitol at 1 o'clock to attend a picnic and a set of athletic games at Nassau, near Albany, and will not return to the Capitol until Monday. To-morrow will find him at his country home just outside the city.

Gov. Sulzer's reply to Acting Governor Glynn's letter was not delivered to the Acting Governor, who had left his office for the day and it does not change the situation.

SULZER REPROACHES GLYNN FOR REFUSING COURT FIGHT.

Following is the text of the Sulzer letter:

To Hon. Martin H. Glynn, Lieutenant-Governor, Albany:

Sir—Your communication of Friday night, refusing my suggestion that counsel agree upon a method of submitting to the courts the question as to whether the presentation of the charges against me deprives me of the right and absolves me from the duty of continuing to discharge the duties of the office to which the people have elected me, or whether it is your right and duty to act as Governor pending the trial of such charges, received.

There is no suggestion that you should barter away any of the functions attached to the office of Lieutenant-Governor, but simply that we seek a determination of what your and my rights and duties are, at the present juncture. Your statement that "the entire matter is now in the highest court of the State—the Court of Impeachment," I suggest to you is very inaccurate. The Court of Impeachment will not convene until the 18th of September. That court is not to determine who is to discharge the duties of Governor pending the trial of the charges presented to it, and of course, could not, in any event, determine that question before it convenes.

Whatever the result of the charges against me may be, it is certain that future trouble and litigation will arise, growing out of your acts and mine, and it was to prevent, as far as possible, such future trouble, and to avoid the spectacle of two persons claiming to act as Governor of this great State at the same time, that I made the suggestion that counsel for you and myself endeavor to agree upon some method of presenting the question, as to who should act as Governor until the
